Maximize protocol compliance throughout the entire clinical trial process

See how home trial visits can minimize burden, improve retention, and maximize protocol compliance.

EARLY SITE ENGAGEMENT

Early outreach and communication increases the number of sites and patients that benefit from a home trial visit component.

Sites are educated about home trial services to increase understanding.

Feasibility questionnaires can determine a site's experience with home trial services—and help identify the best methods of engagement.

Save time and deployment costs by incorporating a home trial visit strategy early and by using informed consent forms (ICFs). A home trial service provider (HTP) will:

1 Create study documentation

2 Establish site communication

3 Authorize home trial visits

4 Identify qualified professionals

5 Provide comprehensive training

6 Delegate authority

- ✓ Eliminate extensive document revisions
- ✓ Fewer document submissions
- ✓ Save time
- ✓ Reduce study start-up and deployment costs

PREPARATION & COORDINATION

Pre-visit activities vary depending on the study and protocol requirements. Finding the best fit for each study is a key advantage of Firma home trial services and is important for successful home trial visits.

1 Coordinate site visits

2 Pre-order and ship IP

3 Courier samples to lab

IP pick-up and delivery as well as special courier for getting samples to the lab can also be arranged by your home trial service provider (HTP) when requested.

IN-HOME ACTIVITIES

Highly skilled in-home nurses and clinical service providers can bring everything from simple questionnaires and vital sign assessments to complex biological sample collection, blood draws, and study drug administration to participants' homes based on protocol requirements.

1 Coordinate IP transport

2 Complete support services

3 Communicate administrative and logistical needs

4 Complete source documentation

5 Complete visit

- ✓ Communicate with patient/site
- ✓ Address administrative needs
- ✓ Resolve logistical concerns
- ✓ Make critical decisions

ACCURATE & COMPLETE DOCUMENTATION

Ongoing risk management and transparent communication about patient status and progress ensure sites obtain accurate and complete source documentation in a timely manner.

Quality-check source documentation
